I. SIGNIFICANT ITEMS

None to report.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. In response to a request from the PM course we are attempting to develop a one-day presentation of Communist concepts and tactics in "Revolutionary Warfare" for inclusion in that course. Since this subject is already covered, to a limited degree, in our CT program the added material will represent an extension in greater depth of Communist organization for PM activities and specifics of their tactics. Hopefully, we will also be able to include selected case presentations.

3. [] met with [] to iron out China Familiarization problems. The results, from SIC's viewpoint, were gratifying. I had suggested, in my last weekly, that [] might not be willing to accept [] recommendations and that we might be confronted with a parting of the ways. We were wrong. [] was most receptive. The course will continue under SIC supervision and will now include more direct participation of SIC staff in accordance with [] proposals. 25X1A 25X1A 25X1A

4. We are still uncertain as to whether we will be conducting a course for NPIC. At last reading there were only two uncleared candidates available and no clear prediction concerning future availability. Would you be willing for us to establish a minimum of ten as the basis for our involvement in this program?

5. We are continuing the tutorial training of [] 25X1C

[] having spent Friday and Saturday, July 2 and 3. It appears now, however, that a Sunday schedule will have to be worked out since his language classes extend through Saturday morning. Bill [] suggested that he skip class on Saturday mornings -- which he did on 3 July, but [] found him to be rather unhappy about that procedure. We'll have to find another solution.
